Linda,
It's been a long ole haul and we've been together for the biggest part of the ride.
I'm glad we're not yet. That makes it easier to write in your book for me.
Goodbyes are a lot harder than "til then". So, til then -
Good luck! Kathy Jones

*Raytown High School
Raytown, Missouri*

Volume XXXV

Having remained after regular school hours for a specially called meeting of the Y-Teens executive council, Nancy Gray, a Senior, slowly waks through the deserted main hall of Raytown High after an exhausting day of school.

For Every Student Raytown High Is A

Before going home, Eberhart Stahl thanks RHS for making his visit pleasant.

While decorating for the Football Homecoming Dance, Peggy Moad pauses after unrolling poster paper to give instructions to an anxious committee member.

On August 30, excited RHS students came to school to receive their schedules, bus passes, activity cards, and to pay fees for the coming school year.

Former student, Tom Butterfield, talks about his Boy's Ranch at an assembly.

Crossway From Adolescence to Adulthood

Kneeling in the auditorium, Scott Bunch helps prepare the stage for assembly.

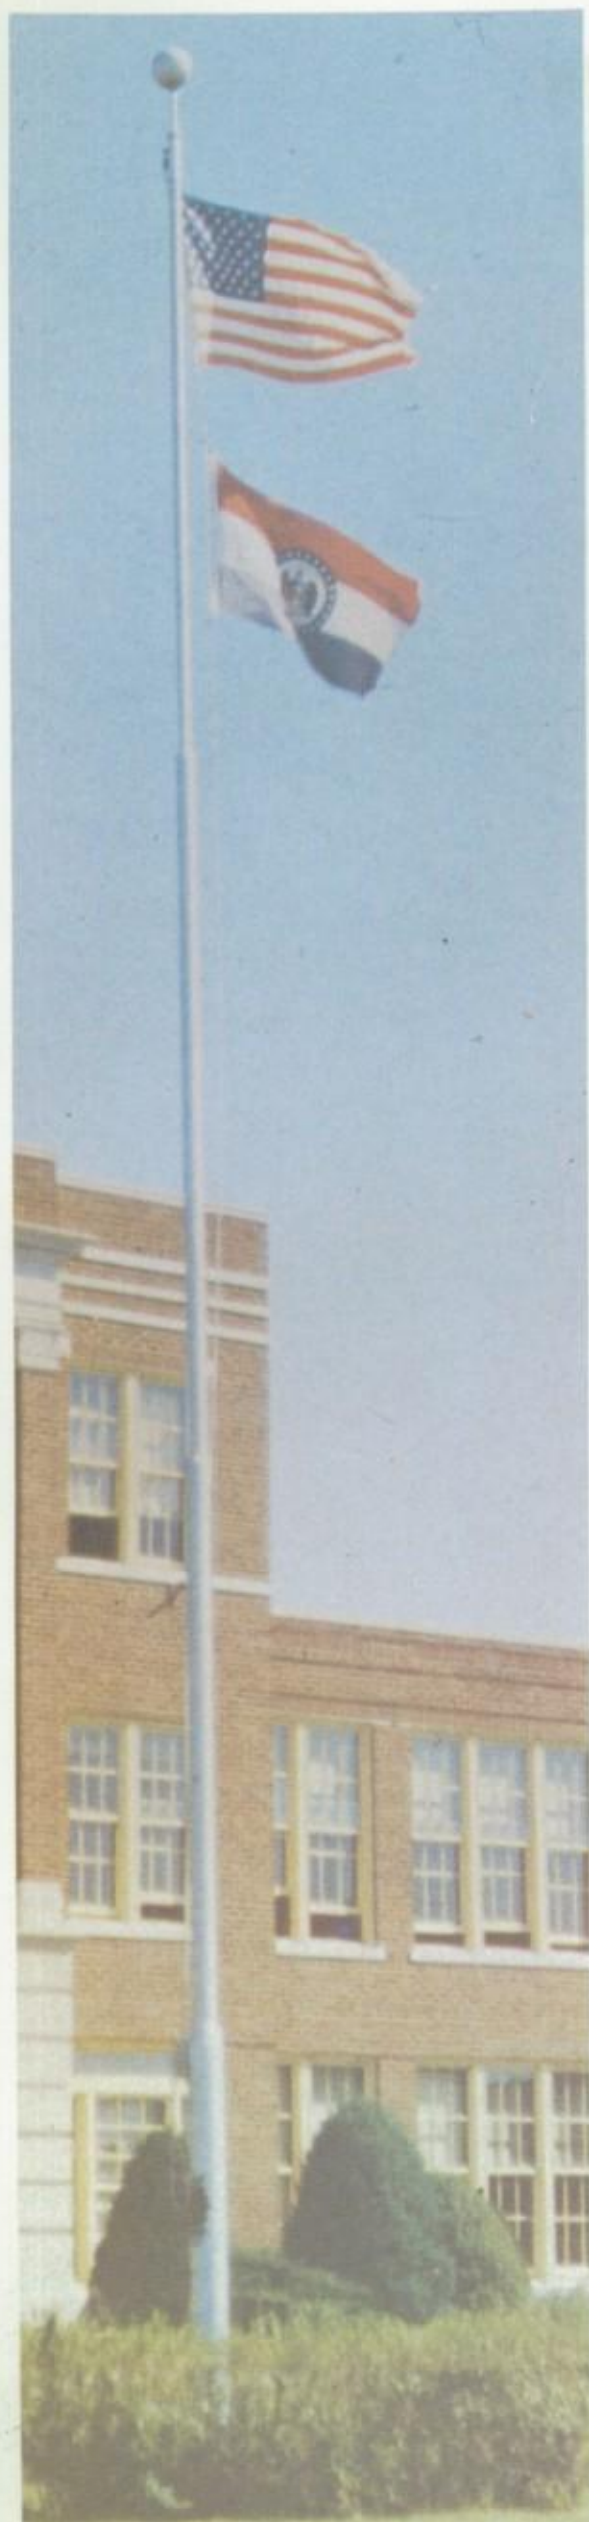

Janice Rice squirts water at Shirley Houk as she tries to get a drink.

Lundy Larmer completes her Spanish assignment before school in the library.

Max Mitchell directs Debby White, Gala Schooley, Carlene Holmes, and Camilla

Wooldridge in hanging the fighting Bluejay Flag, the '67 senior class gift.

We Pledge Allegiance also

The crowded halls of Raytown High School overflow with sixteen hundred students frantically rushing from class to class in a constantly changing ebb of emotions. The school expands; its inhabitants change yearly, yet, the sea of faces—some smiling, some frowning, some searching, all merge within a time-worn school that has encompassed thousands of students in the past and has etched remembrances in the minds of each.

Raytown students clamor through halls and shuffle downstairs as ambitions lead them to their distinctive goals and their interests lead them to different subjects and activities. In a ring of success and failure; happiness and sorrow, we all cling together as humanity seeks the companionship with humanity. Though interests separate us and ambitions divided us, the ever present swelling warmth of pride for Raytown High School unites us.

When each of us separates to pursue his own plans for the future, still within us will remain a common bond that will outlast the crumbling of an aging building. We have become a part of Raytown High School and the ties of fellowship and loyalty manifested will live in our memories forever.

Leading the Pep Squad at athletic events throughout the year, the 1968 cheerleaders, Peggy Moad, Beth Pendleton, Pam Stalcup, Shirley Houk, Paula Welch, and Linda Adee, surround the Raytown Bluejay mascot, Marilyn Allen.

to the Ideals for Which Raytown Stands

Kathie O'Hara and Diane Medley discuss the student handbook with Mr. Yust, their Junior class counselor, while enjoying the pleasant atmosphere of the counselling center which was completely redecorated during the summer.

After the crowning and the half-time festivities at the Meet the Squad Night, Kick-Off

Queen Liz Brown and her attendants Kathy Williamson, Kathie O'Hara, and Sandy Martin, applaud as the White Team makes a touchdown.

Liz Reigns Over First Game of Season

Liz Brown glows with happiness as she watches the remainder of the game.

The Raytown High School Football season was formally opened as Lonny Todd crowned Liz Brown the 1967 Kick-Off Queen. Afterwards Kathy Latz, last year's Kick-Off Queen, presented Liz with a bouquet of a dozen red roses.

Liz, a petite sophomore, was escorted by Mike Carmack. Her attendants were Kathy Williamson, junior, escorted by Mike Fields; Kathie O'Hara, junior, escorted by Ken Collins; and sophomore Sandy Martin, escorted by Gregg Gault.

Excited friends rush to greet Liz and give her their congratulations.

Cafeteria Provides Swinging Atmosphere

During one of the band breaks at Basketball Homecoming, Jay Overstreet smiles at his date, Darla Acree, as he helps her straighten her corsage.

Dennis White and Janet Eikel dance to the swinging beat of the Fantastics.

At the Pep Squad Dance, Steve Hodson and Kathy Hencke dance romantically.

Students are joined by former graduates at the Basketball Homecoming Dance. The Dantes provided the music amid the theme "Everything's Coming Up Roses."

Though Each is an Individual, We Work

As the end of a perfect evening and a perfect year, Diana Mutch and Bob Raymond pause in front of the J. C. Nichols Fountain on the Plaza after the Junior-Senior Prom to reminisce all the events of their senior year at Raytown.

Shirley Houk and Pam Stalcup wait excitedly to present a cake to the football boys at an all school Pep Rally.

Renee Wooley sympathizes with Jim Barnhart as he tells her about his injury suffered in a previous football game.

Together to Promote Pride for Raytown

Surrounded by colorful maps which deck the classroom walls and serve as visual aids to Mr. Napier's Geography class, students concentrate on their lecture notes and maps while preparing for an examination on the Middle East.

Bill Morrow and Kyle Martin aid Randy Schmidt in wrapping his ankle at the Center track meet in Swope Park.

On a trip in October, Mr. Watts, Cave Club sponsor examines a column in Carroll Cave located in Camden County.

Sue Munkers, Lyman Shannon, Bill Morrissey, Linda Ahrentschild, Sue Vida, and Beth Leonard represent the Drama Department by showing different characters from famous children's plays presented each year in January.

Debby White, Raytown High's 1967 Football Homecoming Queen was escorted by Mark

Moore. Her attendants were Sue Jones, escorted by Tom Fenske; Teri Wren, escorted by Bob Raymond; and Kathy Hovis, escorted by Ronnie Holmes.

Debby's Kingdom is Enchanting Camelot

A week of anxiety and hectic preparation reached its climax as Mr. Hanks stepped forward and crowned Debby White as Raytown's 1967 Football Homecoming Queen.

The new queen is a brown-eyed, blonde senior. Her attendants were Kathy Hovis, escorted by Ronnie Holmes; Sue Jones, escorted by Tom Fenske; and Teri Wren, escorted by Bob Raymond.

The coronation took place during the half time ceremonies of the North Kansas City game. The Jaywalkers and the Band were in the formation of a crown as Joyce Sutton, last year's Queen, presented Debby with a bouquet of roses.

Student Council members transformed the gymnasium of the Junior High into legendary Camelot where Debby reigned as Queen throughout the rest of the evening. The Classmen provided the music.

The surprised but elated new Homecoming Queen, Debby White, walks with her escort, Mark Moore, toward the float.

Debby's friends and anxious mother gather to congratulate the new Queen.

After the excitement of the crowning is over, Debby, with her court surrounding her, is seated upon a float decorated like the helmet of a knight.

We are United Together By Strong Ties

Chuck Erickson and Jeff Bersuch, members of the stage committee, assemble the mannequin to be used as the princess in the castle tower as part of the decorations at the football homecoming dance held in the Junior High gymnasium.

Phil Thornton, publicity chairman, and Pat Turner put finishing touches on posters for the fall play Stage Door.

Following the football homecoming dance, David Dickey with Kathy Latz and Sandy

Martin with Jim Turner, relax in the autumn-hued atmosphere of the entry way to the Plaza

III Restaurant before being shown to their table for dinner.

of Fellowship and Loyalty for Raytown

Members of Mr. Morris' sixth hour Art II class take advantage of a clear, warm Autumn day to sit on the curb of the new parking lot and develop their talents by doing pencil sketchings of the church landscape across the street.

A member of the Jeff City football team pursues halfback Steve Gillespie as he runs toward the goal in the final moments of Raytown's first home game.

Neal Goodson is amused at the latest hair-style Paula Englund is creating for him on the Springfield bus trip.

The hard working production staff and cast relax as a small party.

Two of the major characters, Beth Leonard playing Terry Randall and Jim Fischer playing Keith Burgess, begin their romance with an argument pertaining to life.

The Drama Department Shows Versatility

During one of the many rehearsals, Beth Leonard, playing the lead role of Terry Randall, tells her friends to have faith in their unsuccessful careers.

Under the direction of Mrs. Mary Chaisson, the Raytown High School Drama Department presented Stage Door for its fall play.

This story, by Ferber and Kaufman, tells of the many young girls who flock to New York City each year to become actresses.

By combining the hard work of the many students on the production staff and in the cast, Stage Door was an excellent play which attracted capacity crowds.

The cowardly Lion begins to cry when he encounters Toto in the forest.

Dorothy and her little dog Toto stop to rest on the yellow brick road.

The Wicked Witch of the West conspires against Dorothy and her friends.

By Exhibiting Both Tragedy and Comedy

Every year Raytown High School, Raytown South High School, and UMKC each present a play for the children of this area. These plays not only provide an afternoon of entertainment, but also are an introduction to the stage for many children. The proceeds go to the local P.T.A.'s.

This year Raytown presented the Wizard of Oz, the story of a young girl named Dorothy and her adventures in the land of Oz.

On their way to find the Wizard of Oz, Dorothy and her brainless friend, the scarecrow, find the Tin Woodsman, who wants to ask the Wizard for a heart.

As Graduating Seniors of 1968 We Move

While waiting to receive their diplomas at the traditional graduation exercises held at the RLDS Auditorium in Independence, graduating seniors in caps and gowns spend their last few moments together discussing future plans.

Forward Beneath the Blue and the White

As the band plays "Camelot," senior girls in Jaywalkers march off the field after a performance at their last high school football homecoming.

Stopping in front of the fruit machine, Frank Munden pauses to enjoy an apple before the first hour bell.

At the all school pep rally for the South game, football captain Lonny Todd thanks the student body for its support throughout the season while captain Mike Fields awaits his turn to speak.

Miss Wildwood, Sue Leslie and Mary Lumley, a runner-up in the Miss Wildwood Pageant, ride in the Raytown Roundup Days Parade which was held last fall.

Everything's Coming Up Roses For Cindy

The radiant new queen smiles as the Pep Squad does a cheer in her honor.

Cindy Jones, overcome with surprise, clings to her escort Ronnie Manfredi.

A roar of applause broke the tense silence as Mr. Hanks crowned Cindy Jones the 1968 Basketball Homecoming Queen. Last year's Basketball Homecoming Queen, Camilla Dickstein, presented Cindy with roses. With her escort, Ronnie Manfredi, she proceeded to the float decorated to the theme of "Everything's Coming Up Roses." Her attendants were Diane Duncan escorted by Scott Bunch, Nancy Gray escorted by Ken Collins, and Diana Mutch escorted by Bob Raymond.

Seated on the float before the crowning are the 1968 Basketball Homecoming Queen Candidates, Diana Mutch, Cindy Jones, Nancy Gray, and Diane Duncan.

dangling black beads. Nancy Gray wore a turquoise chiffon and crepe empire dress. Diana Mutch's empire formal was of white lace and mint green taffeta. Diane Duncan's gown was of pink organdy and white lace.

Ray Is Top Tot At Bobbsey Twins Ball

After receiving his royal lollipop, King Ray "Rattles" McDowell is seated on a pink and blue high-chair with his court, Bob "Goo Goo" Carter, Ken "Cuddles" Collins, Gary "Babycakes" Lakey, and Mike "Diapers" Pollock, surrounding him.

Each year the Rayflector staff sponsors the Women Pay All dance. The theme for this year's dance was "The Bobbsey Twins Ball."

Amid pink and blue decorations, RHS couples dressed as look-alikes. Ray McDowell was announced as W.P.A. King. His attendants were Gary Lakey, Bob Carter, Mike Pollock, and Ken Collins.

After being presented with a large red lollipop, King Ray was seated in a high-chair throne upon a pink and blue stage.

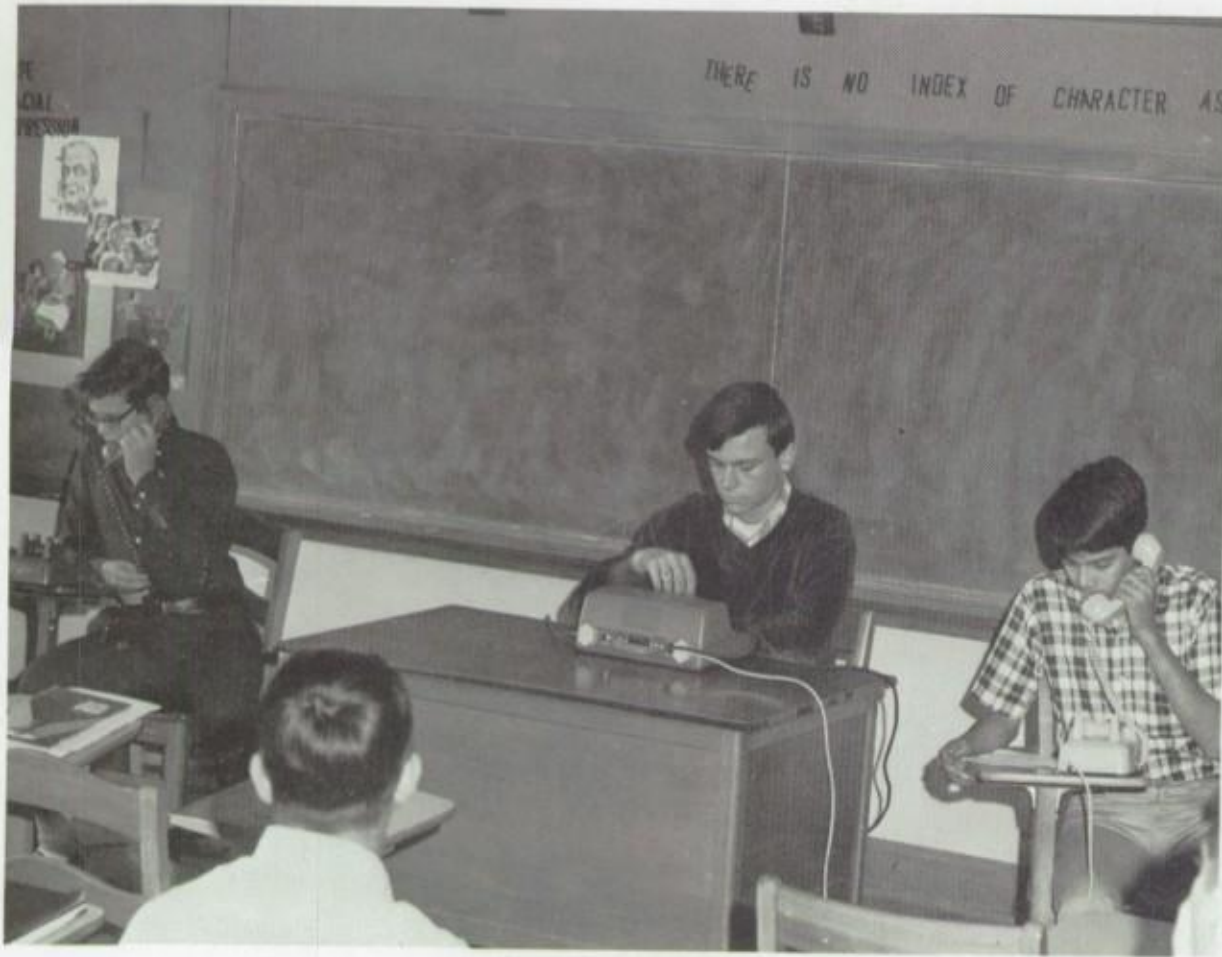

Debbie Higgins leaves the dance floor to straighten her hair-do.

Diane Duncan and John Milham, dressed as a little girl and boy, and Beth Logston and Sheldon Wood, wearing shirts representing their classes, discuss Sheldon's broken leg while waiting for the band to come back from its break.

During Mrs. Nichols speech class, sophomores Joe Nobles and Gary McGee and Dan

Howell use practice phones to learn correct telephone manners.

Mike Carmack and Chris Arbuckle stop to talk to Patti Page after lunch.

RHS Paints Many Ideas and Expressions

Looking at her reflection in the showcase, Debbie McKinney stops to primp.

With difficulty, Diane Duncan pauses in the hall to straighten her shoe.

After hearing a joke in the office, Renee Wooley is overcome by laughter.

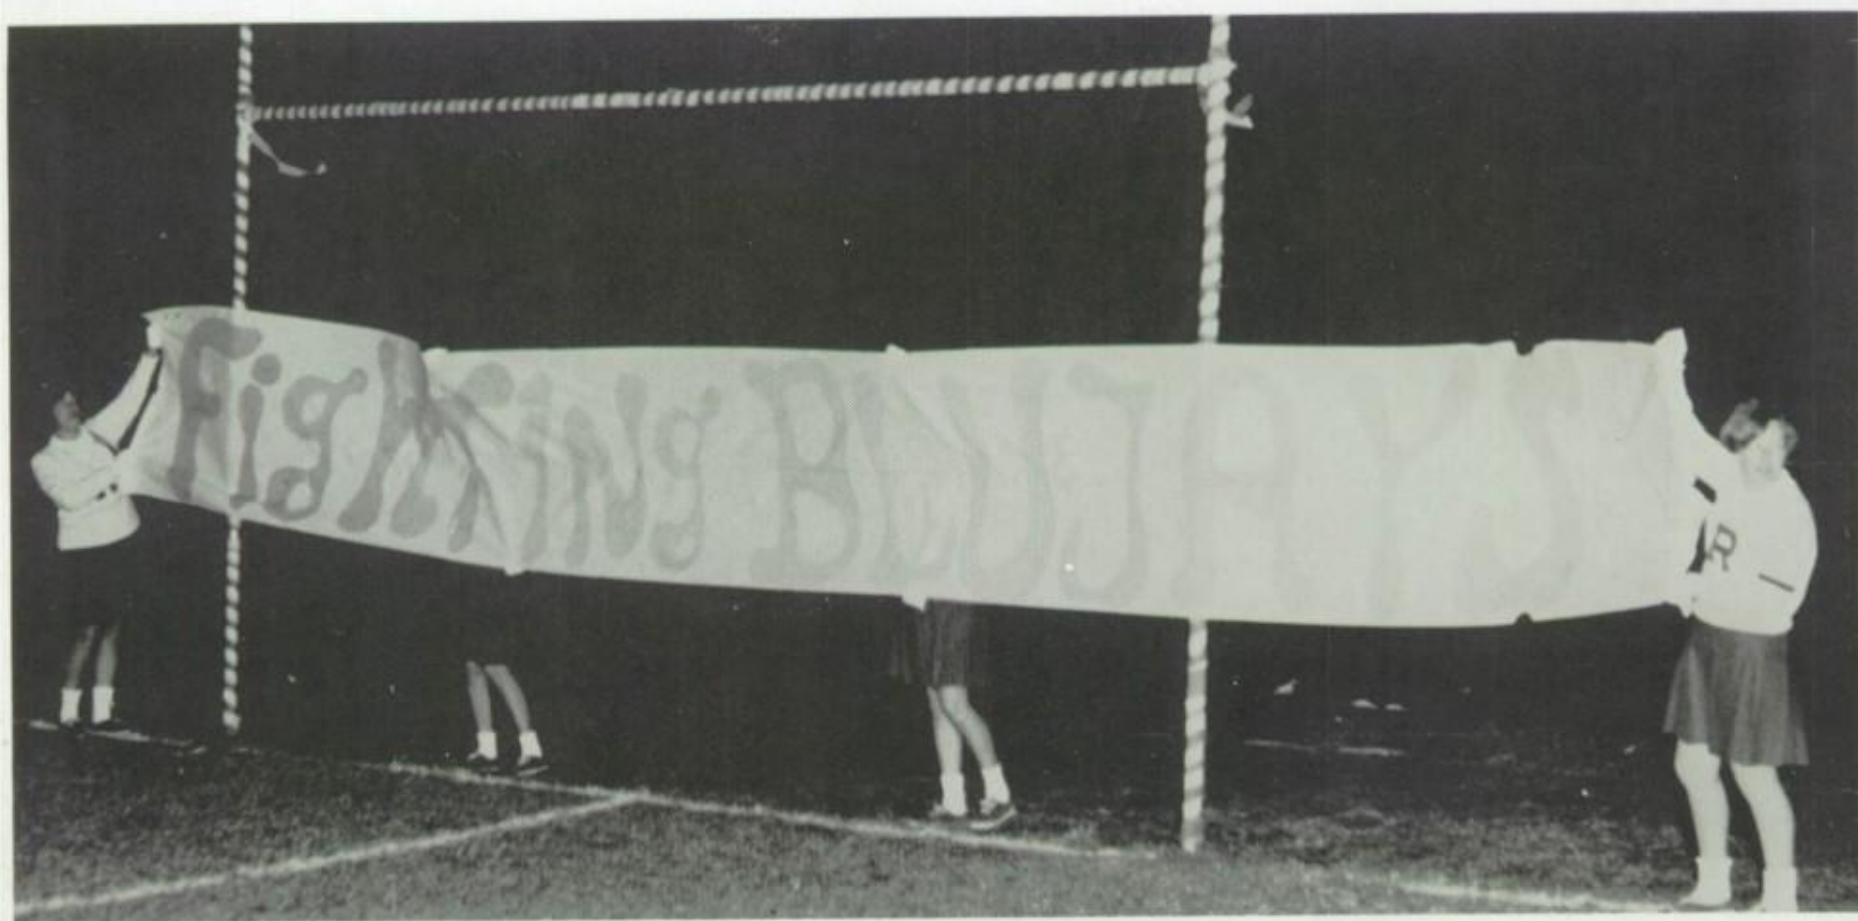

Raytown's Cheerleaders toppled from their pyramid in gales of laughter during one of their energetic practices after school in front of the gymnasium.

The Raytown High School Cheerleaders work hard to promote team spirit.

Raytown Spirit Grows From Enthusiasm,

At the Ruskin game, four Pep Squad members hold up the traditional Raytown Blujays sign for the football team to break through as they enter the field. The Pep Squad forms an entrance onto the field before all home games.

Supporting the Jays in spite of the rainy weather, Vicki Hansen, Marilee McCurry, and Cheryl Griffel are examples of Raytown High School spirit.

Encouragement, And Cheers

Mr. Haxton waits as senior Ken Collins searches for his activity card.

Pam Stalcup looks after her niece, Carrie Wheeler, the RHS mascot.

While helping to put up posters in the new cafeteria, Mark Moore stretches to keep one of the signs from falling.

“Education has for its object the formation of character.”

er, gives a farewell speech to her second hour class.

The N.F.L. sponsor, Mrs. Nichols, checks over debate material after school.

Mr. McGhee, and English Literature teacher, lectures to his class on Beowulf.

At Swope Park, Mr. McGhee records running times for cross-country meets.

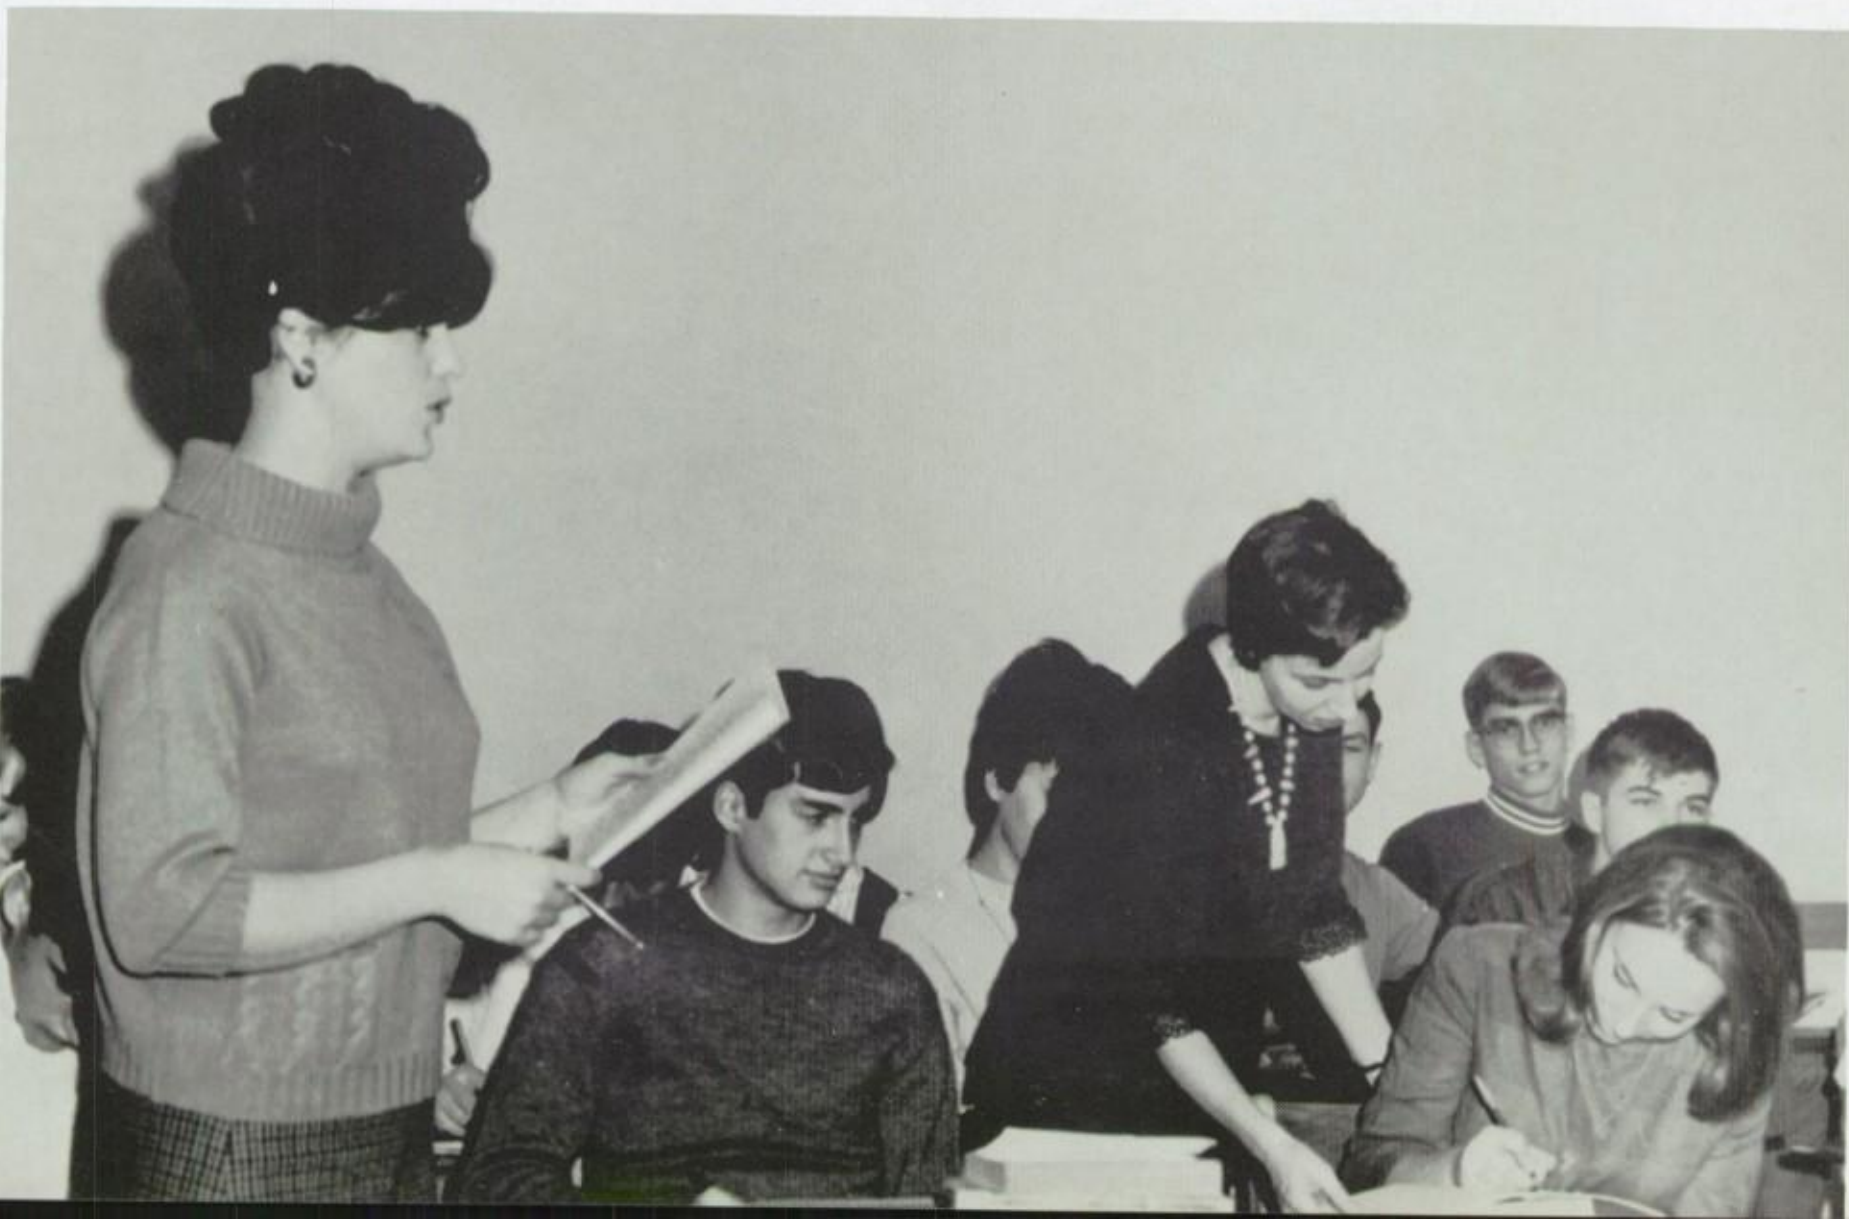

During his free hour, Mr. McGhee takes time out to relax in the boiler room.

Utilize the Available Classroom Space

Miss Shirley Seiner and Mrs. Carol Bradford teach a spelling lesson to their second hour Junior English class. These teachers, similar to others at RHS, have been paired to utilize classrooms until the new addition is completed.

Fine Arts Department

Through Art, Music and Speech Classes

Mrs. Chaisson talks with members of the Fine Arts Department, Mr. Leamon, Mr. Kiesker,

Mr. Schupp, Mrs. Nichols, Mr. Morris and Miss Javorek, about their co-operation in helping on the production of the Spring play.

art project. Mr. Morris is a new member to the Raytown faculty.

Mr. Perry Morris gives a temperance speech at the September teachers' tea.

During sixth hour, Mr. Larry Keisker introduces some new music to Glee Club.

Mr. Leamon carefully checks over some art work which he is planning to place in the show case. Mr. Leamon teaches both Allied Arts and Art I at Raytown.

During their free hour, Mrs. Beverly Law and Miss Mary Javorek relax in the teachers' lounge before going to their sixth hour French class.

Standing outside her sixth hour French class, Mrs. Law greets her students.

Foreign Language Department

Laboratories Aid Students in Speaking

The Foreign Language Department: Mrs. Beverly Law, Mrs. Julie Cobb, Miss Mary Javorek, and Mrs. Anneliese Redd, chat in the language lab. The lab provides French and Spanish students with an opportunity to hear the language spoken by the natives. Being more concerned with grammar than speaking, Latin students do not meet in the lab.

After school Mrs. Julie Cobb is warmly dressed to leave for home.

New Languages

After school Mrs. Redd signs out on the teachers' time sheet in the main office before leaving the building.

Mrs. Julie Cobb, a newly added member of the Foreign Language Department, uses the board in order to better explain the conjugation of Latin verbs.

At the beginning of the year, Mrs. Anneliese Redd teaches her new Spanish students how to operate the microphones and earphones in the language lab. Mrs. Redd has been a Spanish teacher at Raytown High School for seven years.

Physical Education Department

P.E. Increases Agility and Endurance

Physical Education teachers, Dan Willey, Robert Park, Sandra Cornell, Ted Chittwood, Carole Aspedon and Clyde Thompson, spot

for Elizabeth Gabbard as she gracefully works out on the trampoline. The trampoline is just one of the many pieces of gymnastic equipment which the Physical Education Department uses during the school year.

Librarian and Nurses Offer Assistance

In her Developmental Reading class, which was organized to improve reading skills through intensive training, Mrs. Hunter assists one of her students.

Besides fulfilling her job as a nurse, Mrs. Seay works diligently recording the daily bus attendance slips between the sporadic appearances of students.

Mrs. Turner, our school librarian, gracefully swings into the library.

Leonard, and Lundy Larmer. Not pictured: Susan Vida.

Scholarly seniors contributed many awards to the honor of their class. Last summer the senior class sent ten students to Boys' and Girls' State. Four seniors were listed as National Merit Scholarship finalists and five received Letter of Commendations. Notably, sixty percent of the senior class plan to further their educations at colleges around the country. Three seniors attended the Saturday Seminars at UMKC. One senior was appointed to Annapolis.

The Class Officers with Senior Cabinet

Under the leadership of Gary Seaton, President; Kathy Hovis, Vice-President; Barbara Endicott, Secretary; and Janice Rice, Treasurer, the senior class works closely with Mr.

Karl Welch, Counselor, to make 1968 a memorable year.

The Senior class entered RHS last fall anxious to have a successful culmination of their high school careers. Working through the Senior Cabinet the class selected "We wonder, we inquire, we learn, we succeed;" yellow gladiolus; and orange and yellow as their motto, flower, and colors. A Senior Charades and Teen Town were held to provide for the Class gift.

Cinda Crane sews a suit she is making in Mrs. Schupp's Clothing II class. Many girls better their sewing skills by taking this semester course. They learn to put in such things as hems, seams, zippers, facings, button holes, and sleeves. Such experience is valuable in making their own clothes.

Debbie Roberts is amused with the look of astonishment on Diane Medley's face at a recent basketball game. Both girls are active members of Pep Squad.

The Class of '70 Learns From Experience

The Sophomore class consisted of 638 students, the largest class ever to attend Raytown. Because of the size, two counselors were needed to advise them.

During the year the Sophomore Council met to decide on money-making projects and to set up special activities for the class.

On February 15, thirty-five sophomores were inducted into the National Honor Society.

Officers of the Sophomore Council are Tobi Keele, Treasurer; Sandy Martin, Secretary;

Scott Cauger, Vice-President; and Greg Grounds, President.

Pam Devin, Peggy Moad, and Kathy Williamson work after school at Raytown Junior High on the entrance for Football Homecoming to portray the theme "Camelot."

At the first of the year the student body elected the people from each of the classes who would represent them on Student Council.

Student Council sponsored the magazine sale to support the AFS program and participated in raising money for the United Fund and Tom Butterfield's Boys Ranch.

The Council also sponsored the Football and Basketball Homecomings. Members of Student Council served on decoration, refreshment, and entertainment committees.

To Encourage and Sponsor School Events

Paul Morehead returns to his seat after being inducted into Honor Society.

At an Honor Society meeting to make preparations for the upcoming banquet, members discuss among themselves the different choices of where to hold the banquet.

to a National Leadership Training Camp

Students rating high in scholarship, leadership, and citizenship were inducted as members of the National Honor Society.

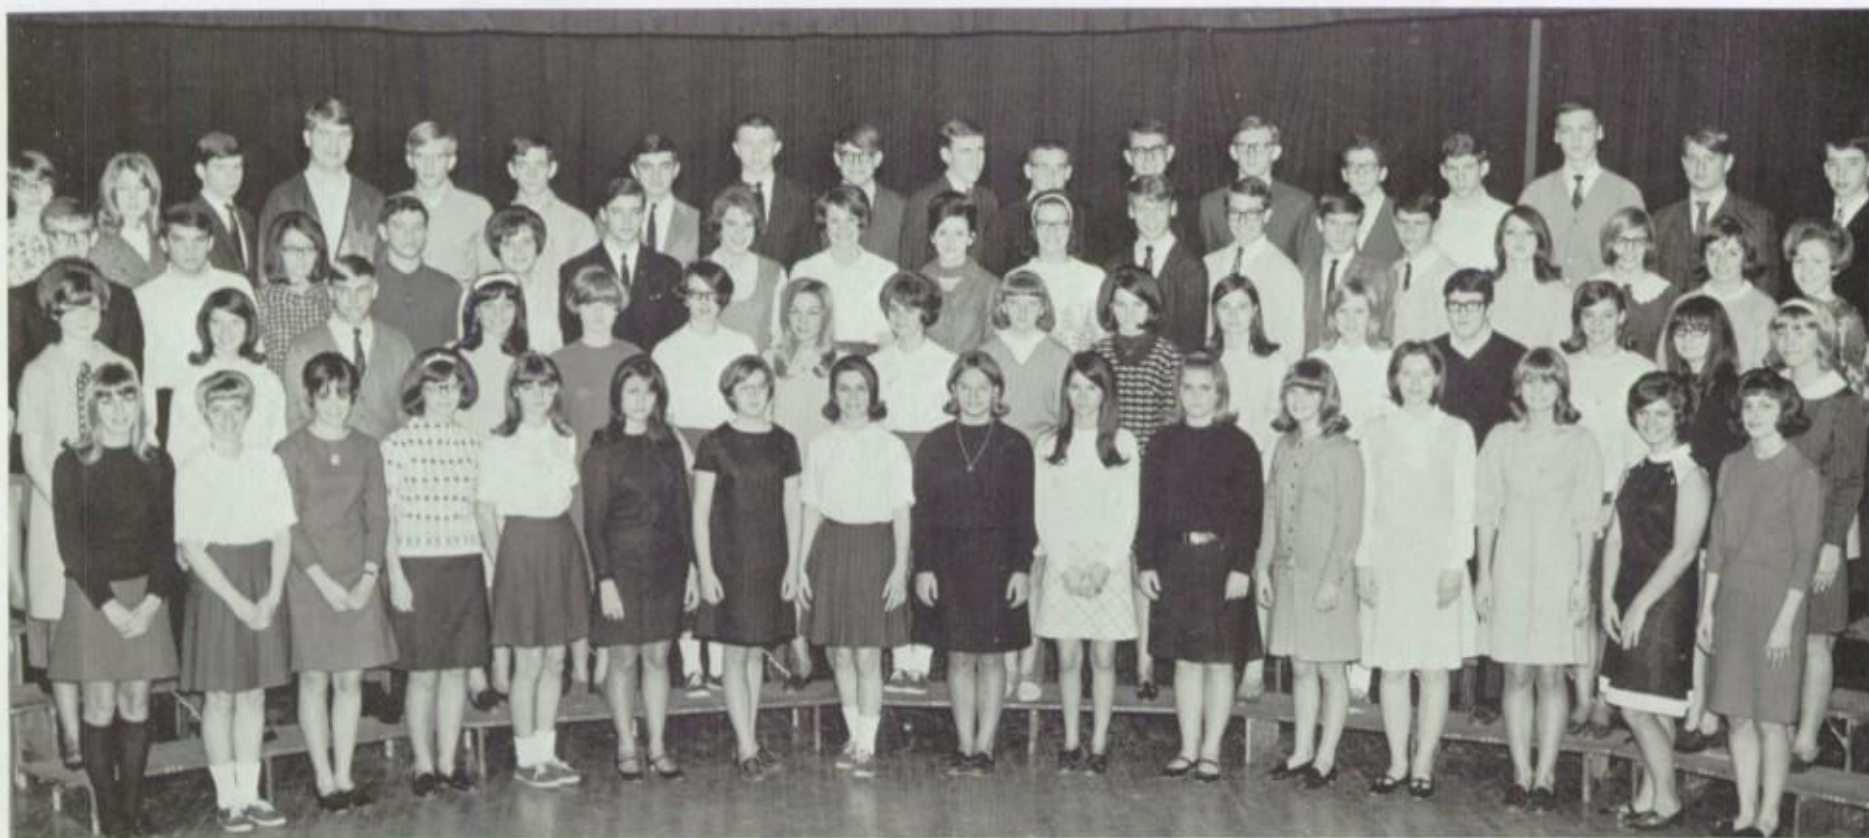

For the first time, the NHS sponsored a representative to attend a leadership training conference in Hot Springs, Arkansas.

As a service project members sold Jay Jingles. Highlighting the year were a banquet held at Stephenson's Restaurant, the induction of new members, and a dance.

After a regular National Honor Society meeting, Ron Tucker and Shirley Houk entertain the club members with several well-known folk songs on their guitars. Ron composed the words and music to one of the numbers, "Blue Curfew."

At a combined meeting of the language clubs, Juan Cruz and Eberhardt Stahl talk to club members about the different customs of their countries.

Juan Cruz and Eberhardt Stahl Enlighten

At a going away party for Eberhard, he expresses his appreciation to the many friends which he has made during his year at Raytown High School.

At his farewell party, Eberhardt opens gifts from various organizations.

In an assembly for AFS students, Bruce Spitzengel, an exchange student who went to Germany this summer; Marilia Mandelli, from Brazil; and Bruno Gastal, from France talk with Carol Quinn while waiting to talk to the student body.

Students Understanding of Life Abroad

The Students and Faculty at Raytown High School were greatly rewarded through the foreign exchange students. For the first time this year, RHS was fortunate in having two students from foreign countries. Juan Cruz, from Chile, was sponsored by the American Field Service program. From Germany, Eberhardt Stahl came to Raytown through the Methodist Church.

Again this year, Raytown High School invited the foreign exchange students from several area high schools to visit at RHS for a day. In the morning, each AFS student spoke to the student body about his country. Then each of them attended various classes.

There were several projects during the year to earn money to support the foreign exchange students. The entire student body participated in the magazine sale which was their chief means of support. Members of Key Club sold "Bells for Peace" to the community at Christmas to aid AFS.

Juan Cruz greets the student body in an all school AFS assembly.

1968 Ramizzou Adds New Dimension With

To produce a yearbook which would be interesting to the entire student body and which would provide each student with fond memories of Raytown in years to come was the goal of Ramizzou. The staff got to an early start with summer meetings to decide on the theme of the book and to get preliminary layouts planned.

Pennants were sold, names were put on the books, and a teentown was held to help Ramizzou meet the expenses of production.

Donna Mann has convincing sales pitch as she sells Bob Jacques a pennant.

Kathy Jones, Max Mitchell, and Cindy Heim, while working to meet their deadline on the sports section, also add some laughs to their tedious work.

Extra Pages and Special Color Section

Editor Mary Townsend works with Donna Mann, Barbara Stilley, Jeryn McCullough to determine the number of pages to be allowed for each class section.

Gary Lakey, photographer, develops pictures in the darkroom for RAMIZZOU.

Jeanne Krohn types steadily in order to meet the first deadline of RAMIZZOU.

While Susan Vida carefully proofreads faculty section body copy, Mr. Renfrow, sponsor, helps Janet Klaric with suggestions for improving a headline.

Through School Newspaper the Student

Paula Englund types speedily in preparation for the next issue of Rayflector.

Juan Cruz and Dana Eisele, editor, listen attentively while Bill Stites, assistant editor, presents the details of a new idea for an added attraction.

Shirley Houk and Janice Rice are busy discussing an article for the next publication of Rayflector while Peggy Moad prepares a special feature.

Mr. Harp, sponsor, waits as Bill Stites makes a list of the necessary pictures for the upcoming edition.

Body Is Up-To-Date on Current Events

The Rayflector staff kept all of the students at Raytown High School informed about the newsworthy events at RHS. They did this through the publication of the school newspaper every two weeks.

As a money-making project, Rayflector sponsored again this year the annual Women Pay All dance. This year's dance was centered around the theme of Bobbsey twins. The WPA King was chosen at the dance. The Castle Ghosts provided music for the dance.

Peggy Moad types a story for the paper while Tim Blevins and Dana Eisele, editor, work industriously on a special section for the next Rayflector.

Nancy Crittenden carefully proofreads and makes corrections on an article for the newspaper while Carol Harnett prepares an assignment for class.

Gala Schooley and Steve Hupp make changes on a story to be typed.

BACK ROW: Nancy Leivan, Pam Rader, Lynn Hughes, Treas.; Patty Francis, Rep.; Terri Sorisso, Mr. VanZant, Sponsor. SECOND ROW: Beverly Moore, Jerry Green, Butch

Terri Sorisso shows a ring to a customer at Zales where she is employed.

Industrious Students Earn Money While

A member of VICA, Gary Ellmaker prepares to take an order from a hungry customer at McDonalds Drive-In where he works in the afternoons to earn extra money.

COE was composed of two divisions, DECA and VICA. Members of DECA were mostly involved in retailing merchandise. Those students who worked at technical and industrial jobs were members of VICA.

Members sold calenders to earn money for the club's activities. At a state contest, members competed with other students involved in COE in such areas as public speaking and job interviews. In the spring, COE students invited their employers to a banquet.

Patty Francis is busy in the gift wrapping department at the Jones Store.

Vice-President of DECA, Sonya Hunter enjoys an occasional lull in business in the fashion accessories department at the Jones Store Company.

Neal Goodson, Peggy Moad, Paula Welch, Sue Jones, Leslie Evans, Genera England, and

Janet Walters, present a humorous skit at a French Club meeting.

The Cercle Francais sold mums at the 1967 football homecoming game. This has become the annual money-making project.

The first big event of the year was the Christmas party, with the theme of "Christmas on the Riviera." Also, a banquet was held in February at Andres'. Delightful entertainment was provided and a complete French meal was served.

For its service project, the French Club aided a needy family in Viet Nam. Each member did his part to make this project a success.

Year Feature a Christmas Extravaganza

At one of the regular bi-monthly meetings of the Cercle Français, a musical program is presented by the members of the Sextet to an attentive audience.

Chris Thomson and Cindy Durbin put on a skit at the Christmas party.

BACK ROW: Dan Howell, Lawson Quinn, Skip Evans, Ronnie Tucker, Steve Clore, Dave Wiles, Carolyn Price, Kathy Tatro, Judy Wheeler. THIRD ROW: Phil Thorton, Becky Phelps, Jackie Peacock, Marla Sandella,

Los Conquistadores Highlight Old Spain

At a regular meeting of the Spanish Club, Terry Pointer, acting as Master of Ceremonies, is leading the club members in a lively game of Bingo.

The highlight of the year for the Spanish Club was the annual Christmas party. An authentic Mexican meal was served and the breaking of the piñata added still more to the true Spanish flavor of the event. This year it was held at the Guadalupe Center.

The Spanish Club sold carnations at the basketball homecoming game as a money-making project. This has become a tradition at RHS.

Members of Drama Club Present a Spring

Ralph Shaw, President, takes a moment out from the regular order of business as Mike Sundermeyer amuses other Drama Club members with a comical remark.

Drama Club served the school and community through the production of three plays during the year. In the fall play, STAGE DOOR, Beth Leonard, Wayne Coldsnow, and Ben Mann carried the leading roles. The musical production, ONLY IN AMERICA, was presented in the spring and proved to be a great success. The childrens' play delighted the younger members of the community. At the end of the year, several Drama Club members were honored with special awards.

Student Librarians Assist in Research

The Library Club was mainly a service organization. Student librarians helped Mrs. Turner, the school librarian, shelve and stamp books. They also rendered assistance to the students in finding material and information needed for school assignments.

A machine in the library to provide students with the necessary supplies for school served as the club's money-making project. Several parties throughout the school year added variety to the activities of the Library Club.

Mrs. Turner, school librarian, and Janice Baker, library aid, shelve books as quickly as they are returned so other students may make use of them.

Cheerleaders Learn New Skills at Camp

The 1968 Cheerleaders Paula Welch, Beth Pendleton, Pam Stalcup, Shirley Houk, Peggy

Moad, and Linda Adey display traditional Raytown spirit as they enthusiastically lead the school in a cheer at the Football Homecoming Pep Rally.

At an afternoon practice, the cheerleaders improve the "Captain" cheer in preparation for the Southeast game, the first basketball game of the season.

Setting an example of good sportsmanship and creating enthusiasm for all athletic events among Raytown students were the chief objectives of the cheerleaders.

In order to purchase uniforms and all necessary equipment and to attend cheerleading camp, the cheerleaders sponsored a carwash, two teentowns, and two bake sales during the summer. The sale of victory ribbons for football and basketball games also brought in money to help them meet their expenses.

The Jaywalkers did lively routines with the assistance of the Pep Band to entertain football and basketball audiences. This year tambourines added to their accessories to give unusual variety.

Again this year the Jaywalkers were honored to be asked to march at the NAIA basketball tournament.

In Spite of The Rugged Season of Action

Coach Chronister, beginning his first year as a member of the Raytown High School coaching staff, supervises a strenuous summer work-out on the overhead bars as the football squad of 1967-68 prepares for the long season ahead.

Coach Ted Chittwood talks with quarterback Ken Collins to compare strategy.

The Raytown High School's 1967 football season, although sometimes slightly disappointing, did have several moments of glory. The first conference loss to Truman was followed by a narrow victory over Ruskin 14-13. Our second win over Chrisman was followed by a victory over North Kansas City. Losing to South 13-26 was an unfortunate climax to this year's season. Spirits were raised, though, when the fighting Bluejays came back with a smashing victory over Springfield Parkview.

Steve Gillespie, wet and muddy from the hard scrimmage on the field during the Center game, receives a clean towel to wipe the grime from his tired face.

Under pressure, quarterback Steve Owsley passes the ball to a teammate.

John Brown brings down South's quarter back behind the line of scrimmage.

With the assistance of his brother Mike Fields, and his teammate Jim Legg, Carl Fields is able to run for valuable yardage during the Chrisman game.

While the coaches scouted the opposition and squad members worked for perfection in executing plays, the managers accepted the responsibility of caring for the equipment.

Jim Greene carefully checks the wind and his stance before he makes a putt.

Frank Munden hopes to finish out his golf game with a careful putt on the 18th hole at the Chapel Woods Golf Course while Greg Runyan spots for him.

The Raytown High School Golf Team, limited by conference rules to eight players (four varsity and four junior varsity), participated in matches at Belton, Raytown South, Liberty, Lee's Summit, and Oak Park. The conference match was held on May 11.

Practicing at Chapel Woods Golf Course, the golfers were given excellent conditions in which to perfect their games.

Frank Munden, high golfer for 1967, returned to the team this year.

Richard Holwick struggles in vain to remove his ball from in front of a tree during a game at Chapel Woods.

Junior Greg Runyan takes several practice swings before he begins his game by teeing off at the first hole.

Girls' Physical Education Gives Break

In class, Diana Flynn and Marilyn Allen spot for the girl on the trampoline.

Linda Lewis concentrates on her position as she does a trampoline seat drop.

Ginger Cuzick practices serving during the gym class's volleyball tournament.

Demonstrating a difficult basketball lay-up shot is senior Jeanne Tatro.

The girls' physical education program was widely diversified with activities included to interest almost every girl.

The year began with field hockey and, as cold weather made outside sports no longer possible, the indoor sports began. Included were basketball, volleyball, badminton, shuffle board, tumbling, trampoline, and table tennis.

As the year drew to a close and the weather grew warmer, archery, track, and softball were the interests of the girls.

From Intensive Study and School Books

Ardith Taylor jumps high to gain the tip-off for her team in the class tourney.

Mrs. Cornell introduces the fundamentals of volleyball to her fifth hour class. Under her guidance, the girls learn and practice good sportsmanship.

her opponent by dribbling around her towards a goal.

Laura Dold shows the correct position of the hands for a volley over the net.

Volleyball Team Competes in Intramurals

Pam Graham and Michele Bice enjoy participating in a rousing game of ping pong. This contributes to the girls' sports curriculum by adding variety.

Barbara Simcox acts as the referee while Jamie Pickrell takes her free throw.

The Girl's Volleyball Team capitalized equally upon talent and height to gain respect for their excellence at the sport.

Competing in various conference sports days and in Raytown's own, the girls maintained a winning record in their games.

The Raytown Volleyball Sport's Day was held on March 26, with all the conference teams in competition. The day involved several matches of two eight-minute halves, with five minutes between games.

The Girl's Basketball Team was organized for the purpose of representing Raytown High School at the various high school sports days held during the year. Vigorous practice sessions allowed the girls to bring their athletic talent to the highest level of skill.

The Raytown squad captured second place in the South High Sports Day by winning four of five games in tournament play. The Raytown Sports Day was held in March, with the Suburban Eight Conference teams participating at Raytown.

John Brown approaches the pole-vault pit during sixth hour track practice.

The Raytown Track Team began their season in January for the indoor meets, ran in the American Royal Building.

Under the leadership of Coach John Lyle and his assistants Coaches Bob Parks, Oman Rice, and Ed Chronister, the boys developed their talents and skills to give Raytown a winning season in track.

The track events included this year were: high and low hurdles, pole vault, discus, javelin, and dashes of various lengths.

and Agility in Indoor Track Activities

Dan Collinson strains his tired muscles during a grueling track workout.

Warm-ups done by Ken Collins and Gary Lakey loosen up tight muscles and insure perfect coordination in rigorous daily indoor track practices.

To keep in the best physical condition during pre-season track, members of the indoor track team take an active part in the strenuous game of rugby.

The Sophomore Basketball Team showed great promise this year, ending their season with a record of fourteen wins and only two losses.

These boys were new to the school and were led by Coach Craig, a new addition to the faculty, but both showed themselves to be far from new at the game of basketball.

The team had five boys move up to the Junior Varsity and Varsity Squads. But even with these losses the sophomores' skill pulled them through with a fine record.

We Move Forward With Ties of Loyalty

"United by ties of fellowship and loyalty. . ." Though each student at Raytown had his own individual interests, we were all bound together by one inseparable tie—Raytown High School. The club meetings, the games, the pep rallies, the homecomings, the dances, the Prom, the friends that have been made—all of these things have linked us to Raytown High School. The clasped hands signify this lasting bond with Raytown and all the memories it holds for us.

"We move forward beneath the blue and white." After graduation, the seniors will go on to college or to jobs or some to the service, yet all will hold a certain pride when they hear the name Raytown. The juniors will become seniors, the sophomores will become "research paper" juniors, and a new class of sophomores will enter the doors of Raytown and will be embedded in its spirit.

The 1968 RAMIZZOU staff would like to express their thanks to all those who have devoted their time and effort to the publication of this yearbook.

Linda,
I wish we could have been closer this year.
I really would have liked to.
Good Luck all you do from now on.
Best Wishes,
Max

Linda,
I'll always remember
the cutest girl in R.H.S.
(you) and this year full of experiences and lots of fun.
lots of love,
Your Cousin

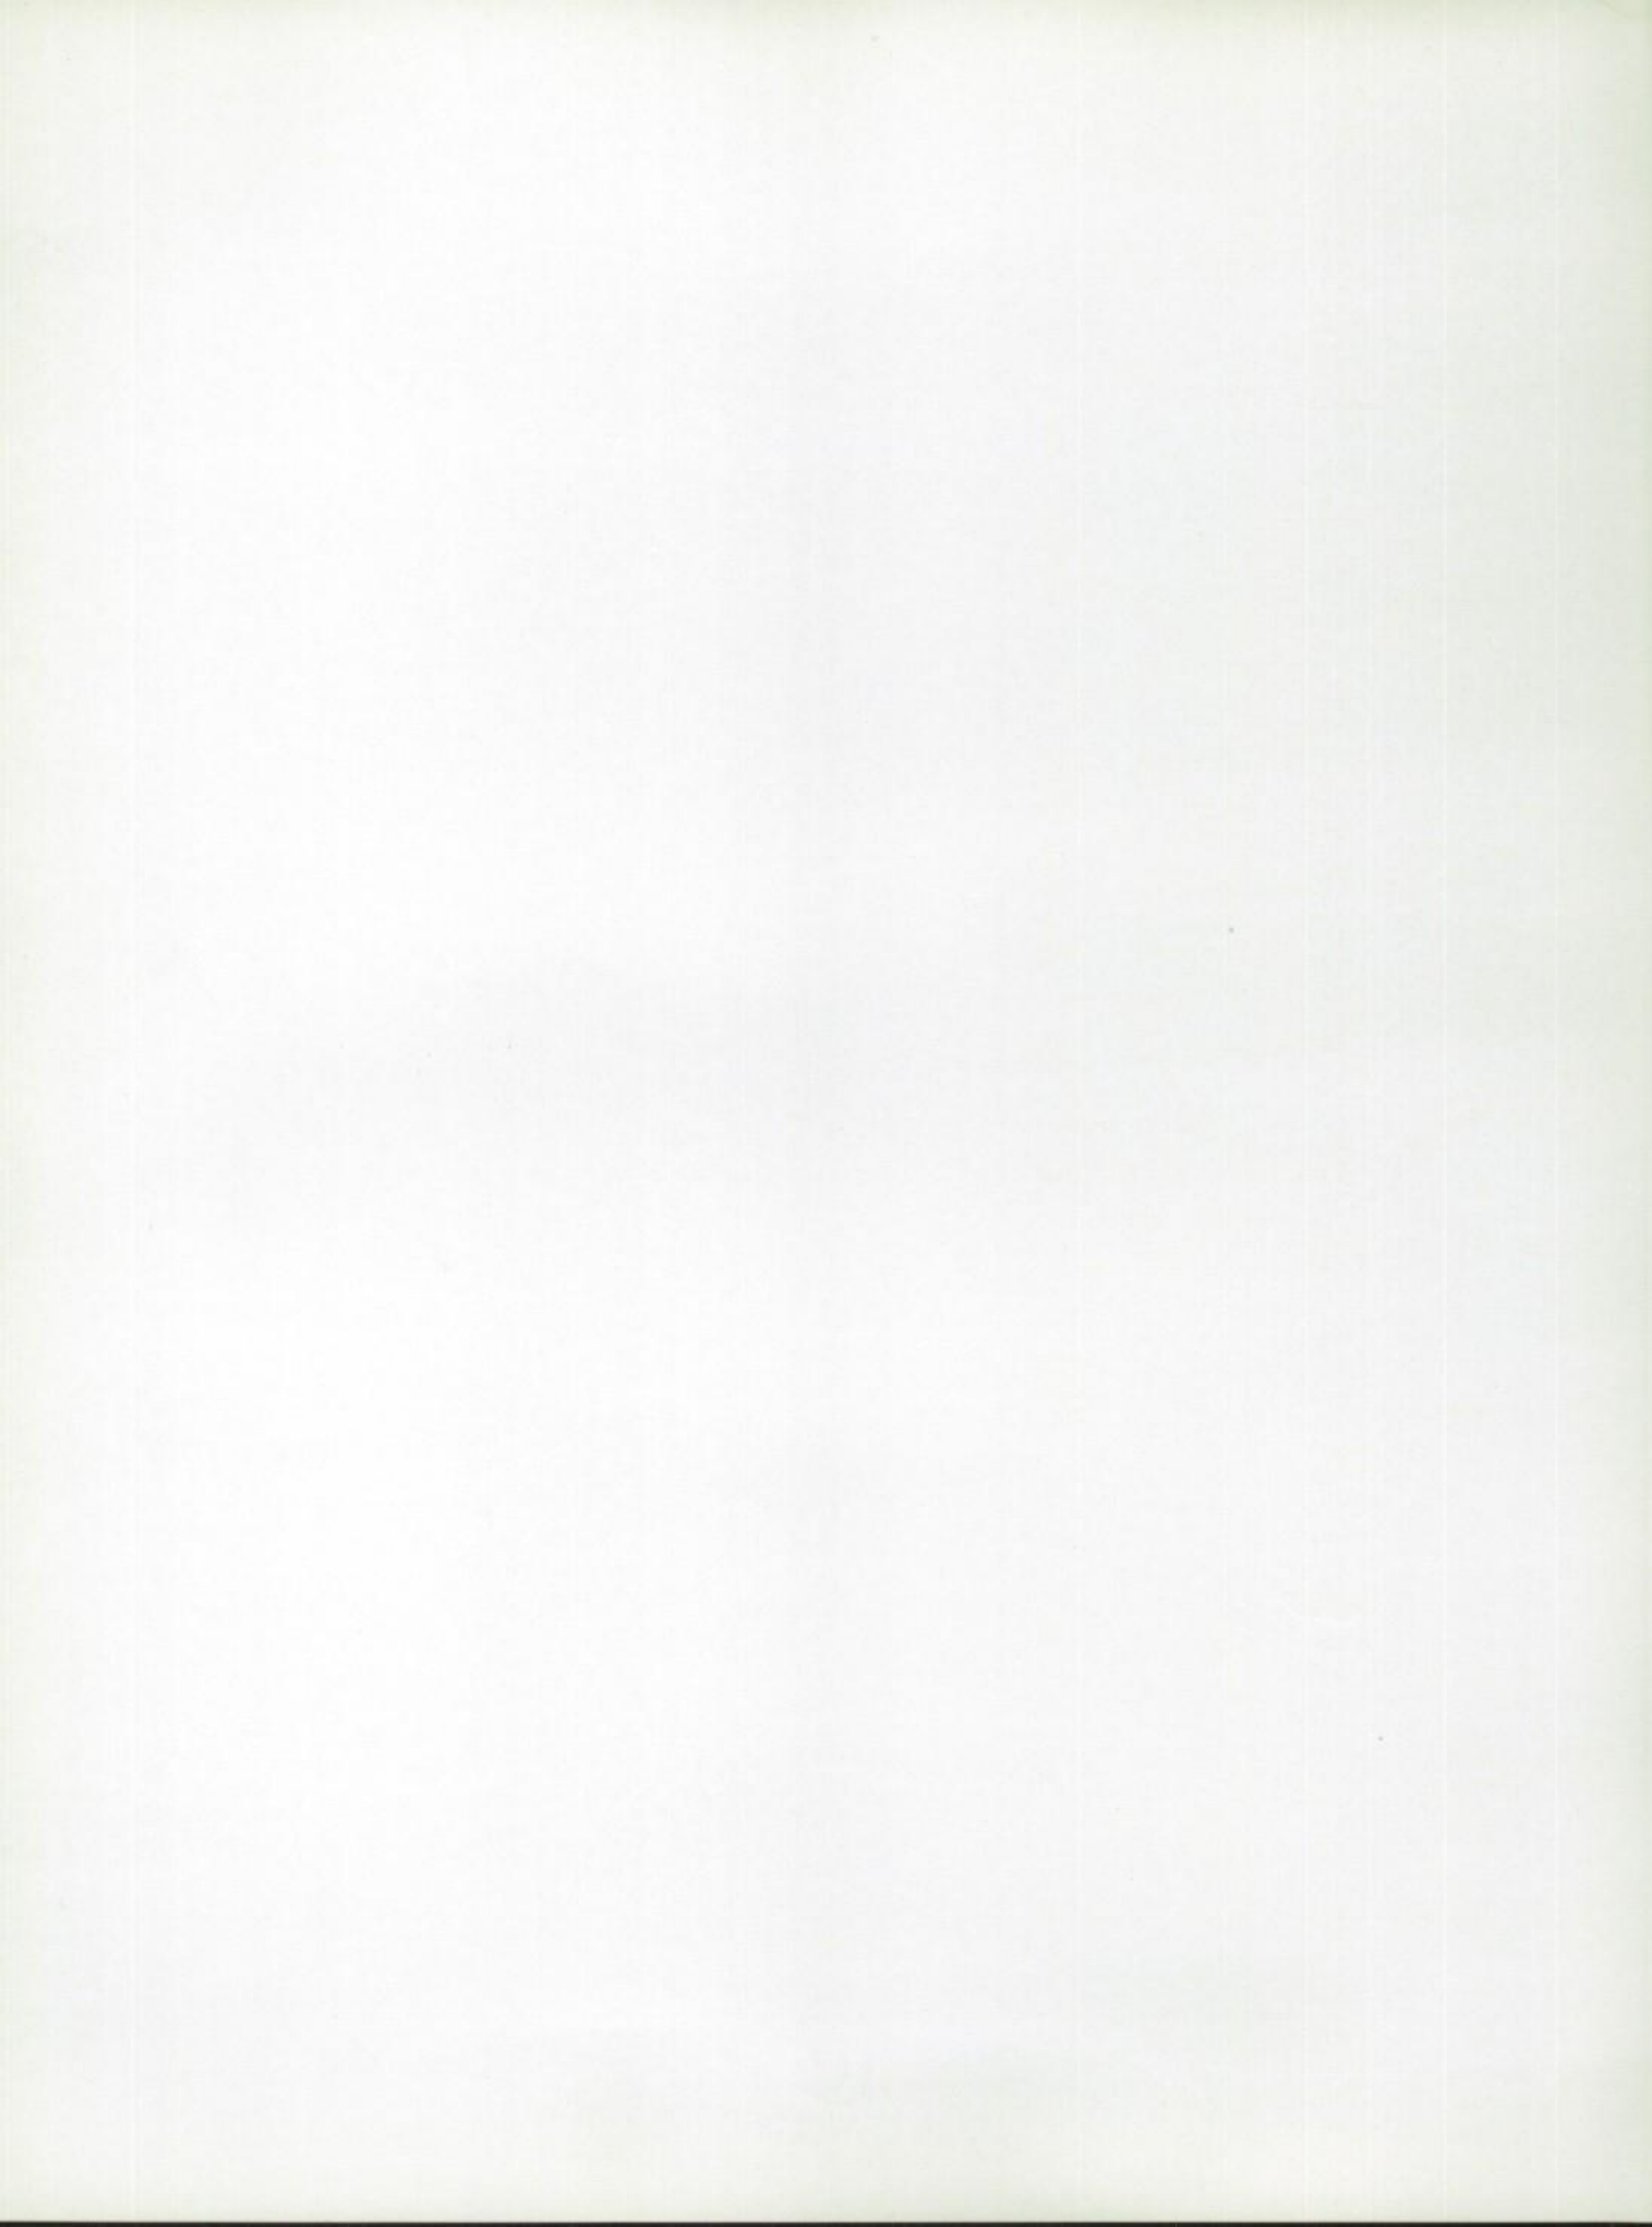

Linda,
We've had a great friendship for a long time.
I don't want it to end here. You better write me from Springfield. Have a great time!

Love,
Seneca

Linda -
 You are one of the darlings - est "Seniors" I know.
 It's been great knowing you - I've had lots of fun this year and I know it just won't be the same next year without your shining face!

Love, Eileen

Linda
 You're one of the sweetest girls I know.
 Please be good, and hope you'll be successful in your attempt.
 Love, Edna
 Always at your service,
 Mary Jo
 Laura Hunt

Linda, helpful and good friend - which is a great combination. The year all over but it was a memorable one. I'm wishing you luck whatever you do. Ken Collins

Linda
 You're one of the sweetest girls I know and we had a lot of fun this year.
 See you this summer
 Lots of luck always.
 Carol

Linda,
 I hope I get to see you all the time if we get summer. We will have a good time if we get together.
 Love,
 Mike
